Make Deployment Easier on IT

The Challenge: Managing Deployment Complexity Internally

What looks like a simple device request can quickly become a drain on IT time, visibility and consistency.

A Simpler Path From Request to Recovery

1 REQUEST
Submitting needs by email or portal.
One simple starting point.

2 CONFIGURE
Preparing devices for users, roles and requirements.
The right device, ready for the right user.

CDW-Managed Workflow
One connected process for deployment, returns and recovery.
Supported by CDW expertise and certified partners.

3 DEPLOY
Shipping ready-to-work devices wherever users are located.
A consistent experience across locations.

78%
of remote-capable U.S. employees work hybrid or fully remote.[1]
Today's device deployments have to reach far beyond the office.

4 RETURN
Coordinating boxes, labels and device collection.
Less logistical burden for internal teams.

5 RECOVER + ROUTE
Wiping, documenting and directing each asset.
A clear next step for every device.

10%–15%
increase in laptop prices reported by Forrester clients in 2026.[2]
Getting more value from existing devices matters more when replacement costs rise.

Redeploy
Preparing usable devices for another employee.

Remarket
Helping recover residual value from devices no longer needed.

Recycle
Supporting responsible recycling for devices at end of life.

How CDW Can Help

CDW helps coordinate configuration, deployment, returns and recovery through a workflow built around your organization.

Hardware Expertise
CDW brings deep experience in sourcing, configuring and deploying devices across a wide variety of technology environments.

Single Point of Contact
You can work through CDW for both new device deployment and the recovery of replaced equipment, even when certified partners perform specialized services.

Flexibility at Different Scales
The workflow can support frequent weekly requests, occasional deployments, or refresh initiatives involving hundreds or thousands of devices.

Less Internal Coordination
Email- and portal-based workflows can reduce the number of logistics activities internal teams have to manage themselves.
