

CDW Canada Earns Microsoft Managed Extended Detection and Response Verification Badge

This recognition reinforces CDW Canada's security leadership and its commitment to delivering trusted, modern protection for customers across the country

Toronto, ON, Canada – December 19, 2025

CDW Canada, a leading provider of technology solutions and services for Canadian organizations, has achieved Microsoft verified Managed Extended Detection and Response (MXDR) status for its security solutions, recognizing CDW's alignment to Microsoft's highest standards for extended detection and response capabilities.

Microsoft Intelligent Security Association (MISA) is an ecosystem of independent software vendors and service providers who have demonstrated proven integrations with Microsoft's security technologies and a shared commitment to strengthening customer protection. As a member of the Microsoft Partner Network, the MXDR verification badge highlights CDW Canada's deep expertise in Microsoft Security and its ability to deliver end-to-end, intelligence-driven security services that help organizations defend against evolving cyber threats.

"We are proud to receive the XDR Verification Badge from the Microsoft Intelligent Security Association," said Ginette Adragna, Senior Vice President and General Manager, CDW Canada. "This recognition reflects our continued investment in advanced security capabilities and the incredible work of our teams who help customers strengthen their security posture and respond confidently in today's threat landscape. Working with Microsoft allows us to deliver modern, integrated protection that organizations can trust."

With the XDR verification badge, CDW Canada further solidifies its position as a trusted cybersecurity advisor to Canadian organizations. Through its advanced security operation capabilities, service-led approach and strong alignment of efforts with Microsoft, CDW Canada helps organizations modernize their threat detection, accelerate incident response and build resilient security strategies to support long-term business growth.
