

CDW Canada achieves Cisco's Master Networking Specialization

Recognition affirms CDW's leadership in providing intent-based networking solutions for Canadian organizations

Toronto, ON – March 24, 2021

CDW Canada, a leading provider of technology solutions and services for Canadian organizations, is proud to announce it has achieved Cisco's Master Networking Specialization. The recognition builds on a strong relationship between the two organizations and comes after CDW met stringent requirements and a third-party audit that examined CDW's ability to deploy and manage Cisco solutions.

The Master Networking Specialization is Cisco's highest and most exclusive level of partner certification. It confirms that CDW invested significant time and resources to obtain expertise in the technologies and solutions. The certification allows CDW to better serve customers' digital transformation agendas and strengthens its position as an industry leader in intent-based networking solutions. CDW becomes one of only two organizations to achieve this certification in Canada.

"Our achievement of the Master Networking Specialization is exciting for us as the top Canadian solutions provider in Canada. This accomplishment allows us to better support current and potential customers through their digital transformation journeys," said Ginette Adragna, Vice President and General Manager, CDW Canada. "We're thrilled to grow our relationship with Cisco while providing customers the assurance that we're among an extremely specialized group of Cisco partners."
