

Distance learning resources for schools affected by COVID-19

Google for Education is helping schools facing closure due to COVID-19 by providing distance learning solutions through our products, training and resources.

In addition to having access to tools for distance learning, we recognize educators need resources and tips for how teachers can keep their lessons going remotely, and IT administrators need guidance on how to quickly and securely prepare their school's Chromebooks to go home with students. Educators and IT administrators can explore additional distance learning resources for schools affected by COVID-19 using our new Teach from Home resource page.