

Deliver Business Impact Through Technology

HP Professional Services

Solution Brief

The Transformation Headache

Today's workplace has evolved from the traditional office into a highly interconnected extended organization. To address this, IT must support efficient and secure high availability services wherever employees are working.

However, IT teams face challenges. More than 60% of leaders say their remit has expanded², and frequently change initiatives are frustrated by complexity and overspend. The result is, costs remain too high, transformation is stalled, and employee productivity suffers.

With a focus on delivering business impact through technology for PC, conference rooms, and print workflows, HP Professional Services work with IT Teams worldwide to advise, engineer and deploy modern employee tech solutions that give today's extended organizations a technology advantage.
