WORK REIMAGINED

at home | at the office | anywhere in between

THE NEXT NORMAL

Millions of us have been participating in a global “Work from Home Experiment.” The way we used to do things, “Work” was an office or a place. In this next normal, a hybrid workplace will exist between home and the office. Plus, we’ll see an increased need to travel safely in between, carrying your tools with you.

Work from Home: Home office set up. Good, better, best scenarios.

The New Workspace: The new office layout with social distancing and hygiene solutions.

Sustainable Travel: Health and wellness. Cycling, riding or walking to work.

Whatever your employees’/your customers’ situation, let us help you REIMAGINE the workspace.

REIMAGINE YOUR WORKSPACE AT HOME...

Space limitations and available accessories can impact any work-from-home set-up. Whether employees have their own dedicated workspace or find themselves working at the kitchen table, here are some recommended solutions to make the space efficient and effective.

REIMAGINE YOUR WORKSPACE AT THE OFFICE...

As offices re-open to employees, there are plenty of conversations being had about how the office environment might change. Taller walls or clear dividers may be implemented. Desktop cleanliness and distancing will be key, and outfitting workstations with new accessories will be crucial to reducing risk. Consider reducing such risk by providing an accessory tool kit for each user.
