Customer Success Story

Industry: Healthcare

CHALLENGE: The customer is in the process of building their cloud program and capabilities but needs internal expertise to accelerate their journey. The skill gaps were impeding their ability to respond to the demands of the business, including a significant initiative to pilot Epic in the cloud. The primary goals of this workload migration are to allow the company to reduce the cost and complexity of infrastructure management and improve reliability, security and agility to support core business services.

SOLUTION: After gaining an understanding of the customer's goals and requirements to address this initiative, CDW was able to identify and place two critical consultants to establish foundational components for their Cloud Center of Excellence: Principal Cloud Architect and Senior Cloud Engineer.

RESULT: The customer hired highly qualified and thoroughly vetted resources to architect, design and deploy cloud workloads and services according to industry best practices. They maintained proper governance, security and cost controls throughout the process. By leveraging our services, the customer effectively expanded their internal capabilities and strengthened their teams with the expertise to strategize, build and operationalize cutting-edge technologies that improve patient and user experiences, resulting in a competitive advantage in the healthcare market.
